Many of you may have seen the article about LTPL's plan for a new library in Lyon Township in the South Lyon Herald

Where we are committed to building a new facility to best serve our users, we acknowledge that this is not the time. The staff and Library Board have been working for two years preparing for the launch of this project, with a Strategic Plan, community wide survey and focus groups, and with Quinn Evans Architects to envision a new path forward for the library. The presentation to the Township Board on March 2 was before there was a case of Coronavirus in Michigan, and before most of us could have seen what was coming for us and the rest of the country.

The article was written weeks ago, but only recently published. The Lyon Township Public Library Board of Trustees have tabled this project for another time. We are currently focused on serving you as best as we can during our closure, as well in the months to come during this crisis.
